DECISION ON PINCHOT PLAN READY TODAY

Coal Operators Will Hand in Reply
at Noon

(By the Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 30.—The general policies committee of the anthracite operators held a long session here today considering the proposal of Governor Pinchot for bringing a settlement in the wage controversy with the hard coal miners and reached a decision which will be presented to the governor at Harrisburg tomorrow. In keeping with the suggestion of the governor that he be first informed of the responses to be made by both miners and operators, the coal company representatives withheld all information on the subject.

The general policies committee of the operators has arrived at a decision which will be presented to the governor at noon tomorrow, it is all that Samuel D. Warriner, chief spokesman of the committee would say.

Asked whether he was hopeful that the decision arrived at would prevent the suspension tomorrow night, Mr. Warriner said he would not make any attempt at predictions.

Virtually the entire anthracite industry was represented at the meeting.

RULING OF GREAT INTEREST ISSUED BY COMMISSION

Will Prohibit Manufacturers
from Fixing Resale
Prices

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The Butterick company and five other dress pattern concerns affiliated with it thru consolidation or joint stock ownership were prohibited today by the federal trade commission from selling their patterns to dealers for resale to the public at stipulated prices.

The commission also ordered discontinued the alleged practice of the six companies requiring their contract dealers to handle only their patterns to the exclusion of those manufactured by their concerns.

The defendant concerns were said by the commission to control approximately forty per cent of the dress pattern industry. Those named in addition to the Butterick company were the Federal Publishing company, the Standard Fashion company, Butterick Publishing company, the New York Pattern company and the Designer Publishing company all of New York City.

CROWD BREAKS UP MEETING OF KLAN IN PERTH AMBOY

Police and Firemen
Called to Drive
Back Throng

(By the Associated Press)
PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 30.—A crowd of 5,000 persons broke up a meeting of the Ku Klux Klan in Odd Fellows Hall tonight, 75 policemen and 150 firemen being unable to drive back the throng that stormed the building. Firemen drove trucks into the mass of people but to no avail. A hurry call was sent for state police in Trenton.

Patrolmen fired shots in the air, threw gas bombs and swung their night sticks while the firemen turned streams of water on the fighting throng.

The leaders of the mob were knocked down by patrolmen when they first started to advance toward the hall, but after they had been carried away another attack was started. This time stones were thrown and all windows in Odd Fellows Hall, as well as many others in nearby buildings were broken.

Gas Bombs Thrown.

Police Chief Tonnason then ordered his men to throw tear gas bombs, and thirteen of these, the town's entire supply, were exploded. The crowd fell back, but advanced again hurling more stones. It was then that a riot call was sounded and 150 firemen dashed to the scene.

Chief Tonnason, in the meantime, had ordered the klansmen to leave the building. Clamoring out windows, down fire escapes and thru every available exit, they were met by their assailants and many hand to hand fights ensued.

As one man darted from the crowd some one shouted: "That man has a gun." A patrolman seized him, shoved him into an automobile and hurried him to the police station. Other cars, loaded with men, followed but the prisoner was rushed thru the station and locked in a stable at the rear. After searching the station those who had followed returned to the scene of the fight.

Meeting Advised.

As some of the klansmen broke away from the fighting mass they shouted: "We're coming back—10,000 strong."

"All right," came the answer, "we'll be waiting for you 20,000 strong."

The klansmen had been widely advertised. Chief Tonnason took special precautions against possible trouble. The result of somewhat lesser disturbance at a klans meeting several months ago. He stationed uniformed patrolmen and plainclothesmen on the inside and outside of the hall and at several other points in the vicinity.

The klansmen gathered soon after eight o'clock donned their robes and began their ceremonies. Soon little groups began to form in front of the building the number being augmented until it was estimated that 5,000 persons were in the crowd. Men in the robes demanded admittance to the hall and when they were refused the fight began.

Chief Tonnason declared after quiet had been restored that he knew the instigators of the trouble and promised the arrests of prominent local men.

MINERS APPEAR TO FAVOR PLAN OF MR. PINCHOT

Formal Answer to be Presented to Him
Saturday

(By the Associated Press)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—Governor Pinchot's proposals for settlement of the anthracite controversy and avoidance of a mine shutdown Saturday won their way sufficiently far into the miners' union regard today to insure continued discussion after formal answer is filed with him tomorrow. Operators, who must likewise bring him response to the peace proposals, transferred their deliberations today to Philadelphia, but the miners' union was textually complete tonight awaiting finality of a ratification by the union scale committee at a meeting just before the governor's reception.

One agreement the employers' representatives and the miners' union officials did make today just before separating and it settled the arrangement by which the union will exclude from its work suspension order from the pumpmen and maintenance men whose work must go on even when out-manned stops if the underground workings are to be kept from flooding and cave-ins. The operators agreed to put such men on an eight hour basic day with wage increase figured on the same scale used on previous occasions when men were given a shorter working day.

Scale Committee Called.

The matter cleared away, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, Philip Murray, vice president and Rinaldo Capellani, Thomas Kennedy and C. J. Golden, its three anthracite district presidents, called the full scale committee of more than forty delegates of the organized miners in to executive session. The governor's peace proposal, which offers as its main points a flat wage increase of ten per cent for all miners workers, the abolition of all but eight hour employment, permission to the union to install agents in company offices for collection of dues, full recognition of the union and of the principle of collective bargaining was thoroughly discussed.

Officers were instructed to prepare the answer in the light of opinion developed.

Report Will Say.

Primarily the miners will inform Governor Pinchot that his proposals cannot be arbitrary, and will leave a way open for keeping the mines in operation while further negotiation continues. There will however be but 12 hours to elapse between the time the conference is staggered and the time set in the union order for calling out the men. He will be told that the mine workers dislike the proposal for a flat ten per cent increase in wages all thru the mines. The answer will point out that some stockholders' money.

M'LEAN COUNTY TO REBUILD ITS JAIL

(By the Associated Press)
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 30.—Following recent attempts of desperate criminals to break out of the McLean county jail here and acting on the assertion of officials that prisoners must be transferred from one county jail to another every few weeks to prevent their devising schemes to break out, the board of supervisors of McLean county today made plans to extensively remodel the county jail.

The entire building will be reinforced and an elevated guard post established on the third floor.

BODY OF MASKED MEN ABDUCT A MECHANIC

(By the Associated Press)
TULSA, Okla., Aug. 30.—In open defiance of the state military authorities sent here to suppress mob violence, seven masked men tonight abducted W. J. Mathews, a mechanic.

Mathews was carried out into the country to a point near Red Fork where he escaped while his captors were preparing to administer a lashing.

HERRIN COUNTY BOARD CALLS OFFICERS ON CARPET

(By the Associated Press)
MARION, Ill., Aug. 30.—With feeling reported running high between members of the Ku Klux Klan and an anti-klan organization known as the "Knights of the Flaming Circle" over enforcement of the prohibition law in Williamson county, the scene of the Herrin mine killings in June 1922, members of the county board of supervisors conducted eleven liquor raids today in which two men were arrested.

The raids followed an executive meeting of the board of supervisors at which Sheriff George Galligan and Delos Duty, state's attorney were reported to have been called upon the "carpet" for alleged lax enforcement of the dry law.

Lax Enforcement.

Following the meeting the board made public a set of resolutions it had adopted in which it was stated that "it is the unanimous opinion of the members of the board that the laws are not being enforced as they should be and that those of the county officers who are charged with the task are not using their best endeavors to enforce the law."

The resolutions requested that the law be more rigidly enforced, called attention to a "somewhat critical situation" existing in the county and promised as many deputy sheriffs as possible to enforce the law.

Declines Statement.

State's Attorney Duty, who was cited for contempt by County Judge A. D. Morkan for reducing the bonds of bootleggers from ten to two thousand dollars without the judge's consent, declined to make a statement in reply to the charge. His hearing has been set for Saturday.

Sheriff Galligan declared tonight that the results of the raids led by the supervisors seemed to vindicate him as doing the best he can do to close up bootlegging resorts in the county. The men arrested were Frank Boucher and Otto Hicks.

The klans, which at a recent meeting demanded greater enforcement of the law and the anti-klan organization are reported to be gaining rapidly in membership as a result of the situation.

LET GERMANS HAVE RAILROADS AND HER RESISTANCE CEASES

New German Chancellor
Gives Reasons for Country's Actions

(By the Associated Press)
BERLIN, Aug. 30.—Passive resistance in the Ruhr and the Rhineland will automatically collapse the very moment the Germans are permitted to operate their railroad lines without molestation and when they are granted complete industrial and administrative freedom.

This broadly affects the German attitude of the subject and in the main reiterates the position outlined in Chancellor Stresemann's inaugural declaration before the reichstag, when he emphasized the people of Germany's right to exercise the nation's official and private prerogatives in the disrupted areas. The questions of unimpugned German sovereignty was not referred to in a discussion today with a leading member of the cabinet who reiterated the inference that the problem of evacuation would be left for subsequent solution as the mainstays of passive resistance are primarily to be located in Franco-Belgian seizures of railways, mines, industrial plants and administrative functions.

When untrammelled control of these were restored to the German people the Ruhr and Rhineland peoples he said would return to their vocations and permit the political issues to be adjusted between the contending governments. Until such condition was arrived at the German government would postpone action in the matter of appointing an ambassador to France to succeed the late Dr. Wilhelm Mayer.

The selection of an incumbent for the Paris post at this time and in present stage of the reparations impasse would merely resolve itself into a question of prestige in the opinion of German official quarters and would hardly contribute an element of utility to the situation which apparently is not considered ripe for active negotiations.

Just now a German ambassador in Paris would seem to be superfluous, the cabinet member observed. He added that Chancellor Stresemann was seeking every available and dignified avenue of approach to M. Poincare in an effort to revive reparations discussion along objective lines but that the new German government's openly avowed readiness to facilitate a rapprochement had so far provoked everything else except a propitious echo from Paris.

OIL OFFICIALS ARE GUILTY OF FRAUDS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—Max W. Friedell of Marion, Ind. and Harry E. Lindley of Harrisburg, Pa. president and treasurer respectively of the Black Panther Oil & Refining company were found guilty of charges of conspiracy, false pretense and circulation of an erroneous statement as to the financial condition of the oil company by a jury in quarter sessions court late today. Friedell and Lindley had been accused of fraudulent conversion of more than $1,250,000 of stockholders' money.

DIRECTOR OF MINT SCOBEE HAS RESIGNED

Friend and Appointee of Late President
Harding

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—F. E. Scobee intimate friend of President Harding and appointed by him as director of the mint, will retire from official life in Washington on October 1.

Despite an invitation by President Coolidge to remain at his post Mr. Scobee informed the white house today that private considerations compelled him to insist that his resignation be accepted. Even if Mr. Harding still were in the presidency, he said, his decision could be the same.

White house officials expressed regret over the resignation emphasizing that Mr. Coolidge had urged the director to continue as a part of the personnel of the new administration. There was no indication that any consideration had yet been given to the question of a successor.

Served One Year.

The directorship had been held by Mr. Scobee only a little more than a year, and his appointment was for a five year term not subject to cancellation by the president. He succeeded Ray Baker appointed by President Wilson on the expiration of Mr. Baker's term in 1922.

Mr. Scobee's retirement will mark the second break in the little circle of close friends to whom President Harding gave appointments in Washington. He will remain in office but two months longer than his chief, and but a month after the effective date of the resignation of George B. Christian, Jr., Mr. Harding's secretary.

There has been no intimation that others of Mr. Harding's old-time confidants would give up their places, however, and the period that has elapsed since Mr. Coolidge entered the presidency has served to strengthen a belief that his hope of preserving the personnel of the Harding administration intact will be in a large measure realized.

ALASKAN AFFAIRS WERE FOUND WELL HANDLED USUALLY

Late President's Impressions
Are Commented
Upon

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—How ever much President Harding may have been impressed, before going to Alaska, with the need of a general reorganization of the federal activities there, he came away after his visit very definitely of the opinion that such suggestions were not well considered, Secretary Wainwright of Agriculture declared today in a statement relative to the Alaskan situation.

"President Harding did not find any justification for the charges of mismanagement of public business by the federal agencies in Alaska," said Mr. Wallace. "Neither did he find that the Alaskans themselves took any stock in such stories. He found the various departments of the government doing exactly the same kinds of work in Alaska, that they are doing in the forty-eight states."

"His speech on Alaska (made at his last formal appearance before the public at Seattle on July 27) was a vigorous presentation of definite opinions, based on accurate knowledge and investigation at first hand and it ought to put an end at once and for all to the agitation which has been so hurtful to Alaska."

"The fact is that those industries in Alaska which have had the benefit of conservation policies are the industries which are developing and upon which the Alaska of the future will be built, while those industries which have been thrown open to exploitation are the vanishing industries the looting of which has not enriched the people of Alaska but the outside exploiters who took their money from them. As President Harding said, Alaska is destined to become one of the bright stars in the union of states."

The Alaskan speech made at Seattle, Mr. Wallace said, would go down in history as one of the greatest of President Harding's public utterances.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stork of St. Louis motored to Jacksonville yesterday and spent the day at the home of Joseph Estaque, on East College avenue.

THE DAYS OF PONY EXPRESS ROMANCE TO BE RE-ENACTED

Adventure Begun in 1860 to be Commemorated by Riders Who Will Duplicate in as Near the Same Form as Possible the Feats of the Heroes of the Early Days

(By the Associated Press)
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 30.—A lone rider, weary from many miles of travel, pushing his horse in a final burst of speed, rode into St. Joseph one April afternoon in 1860 to be greeted by cheering thousands awaiting him. He had completed the first trip of the pony express service overland by horse back from Sacramento and established cross-continent communication between the vast stretches of the west and the east. While another who carried mail which had left St. Joseph some ten days earlier was being greeted in Sacramento. The two had shortened communication between the Pacific and the Atlantic by thousands of miles.

Tomorrow the romance and adventure began by those two riders will be re-enacted when another rider will cross the Missouri river by ferry and head toward the Pacific Coast in a revival of the pony express commemorating the deeds of the early messengers.

After some seventy miles of riding the rider tomorrow will relinquish the race to another who will carry it on to the next station and so on until Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Nevada and California have been crossed and San Francisco entered ten days hence, completing the memorial of the pony express.

Altho only sixty three years have elapsed since the beginning of the historic pony express, stories of how it was born remain in dispute. One version is that it grew out of a bet.

Trip to California.

Senator W. M. Gwin of California in the fall of 1854 made a trip overland by horse from California to the middle west. He was accompanied on the way by B. F. Finklin, general manager of the freight concern of Majors, Russell and Wendell which was one of the large stage companies of the middle west. On the way the feasibility of a pony express was discussed but the matter was dropped.

With the increase in population in California due to the gold rush of '49 demands were made for faster communication between California and Washington. The shortest route then was by boat to Panama. Portage across the isthmus and up the Atlantic coast to Washington.

New York capitalists asked congress for a subsidy of $10,000,000 to establish a pony express in the winter of 1859. Then Senator Gwin recalled his talk with Mr. Finklin and sent a hurried call to the Midwest stage firm. Mr. Russell, senior member of the firm, went to Washington and there upset the plans of the New York men.

Mr. Russell's Bet.

Mr. Russell said his firm could carry the mails across the continent in ten days and he was greeted with hoots of derision and statements that he was crazy. "I am willing to bet $10,000," he answered.

His bet was taken up and Mr. Russell returned to Fort Leavenworth to confer with his partners. The Overland, California and Pike's Peak Express Company was the outcome. Then in April, 1860 the express began its first trip from Sacramento to St. Joseph. The rider rode into St. Joseph just five minutes ahead of the ten day limit.

Tomorrow was to have seen a race between riders of the army and "cowboys" but it was announced today that the army would not compete because satisfactory financial arrangements could not be made. The $5,000 which was to have gone to the winner of the race will go to the cowboy team.

SHIPPING BOARD HAS CONFERENCE AT WHITE HOUSE

Operation of Merchant Marine Question Discussed

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—After a thorough discussion of the merchant marine question at a white house conference tonight between President Coolidge and members of the shipping board, Chairman Farley announced that the board would move forward with its plans for indirect government operation of its fleet thru a number of subsidiary corporations.

Mr. Farley made it plain, however, that no definite decisions had been reached at the conference which lasted nearly two hours.

Believed Satisfactory.

The smiling manner in which Mr. Farley and the three other commissioners who have sponsored the subsidiary corporation plan left the conference was pointed to by them as an indication that it had been satisfactory from the point of view of the majority of the board.

The president, it was indicated, would put the plan up to Attorney General Daugherty for an opinion as to its legality, the point raised the three minority board members. Whether he would ask for a formal ruling or merely discuss it with the attorney general was not definitely communicated to the board members, all of whom were said to be convinced that the legal question should be determined promptly.

A RAILROAD'S VISION.

Engineers have recently completed a hydroelectric survey of the Colorado river with a view to future electrification of the Santa Fe railroad. Although immediate electrification is not contemplated, the fact of the survey is interesting and encouraging. The day no doubt will come when the streams which tumble down the mountain sides of the Rockies will furnish the power which will pull mighty railroad trains through and over and around those same mountains.

Such trains will be cleaner and more powerful than the ones now in use. If one railroad is definitely looking toward such electrification, others must also be doing so, and when one starts the work others are likely to follow in rapid succession. Soot and cinder-free railroads, noot and cinder-free cities—it is all quite possible and the vision has already been seen.

LOWER TAXES.

Nearly everybody kicks about taxes. Nearly everybody agrees that they should be lower. No wonder about that, when the cost of government, national, state and local, is now $100 a year for every man, woman and child in the country. How to lower taxes is the question. Here are four suggestions from Senator Smoot, who has made a specialty of public finance:

First, support the national budget system. This remedy assumes similar budgeting of expenditures, and living up to the budgets, in state, county, township and municipal governments. Second, adopt a constitutional amendment to prohibit further issuance of any tax-exempt securities, to prevent legal tax-dodging by big capitalists and make it harder for extravagant administrations to obtain funds.

Third, turn down all new proposals for joint federal and state expenditures, such as those now made for good roads, because they encourage states to spend money they cannot afford. Fourth, emphasize the fact, whenever any new expenditure is proposed, that it is the taxpayer who pays the bill, and let the taxpayer ask himself in every case not simply whether the object is worthy, but whether it is worth the cost contemplated.

Some of the proposals are debatable, but all of them deserve consideration. The last one alone, which is the least debatable of all, would save American citizens a billion or two a year if they heeded it.

For 23 years he served as superintendent of the Sunday school. Although he had many times expressed a wish to relinquish this position, the church at every annual meeting re-elected him as a matter of course. Seldom was he later than 9 o'clock in arriving at his desk, and was always thoroughly posted upon the lesson, as his questions addressed to the school revealed.

Gave Bible to Each Child. It was not by modern pedagogic methods, but by earnest devotion and example that Mr. Irving excelled as a Sunday school leader. He insisted on Bible study, and often led in repeating the psalms. Every child that came from the primary to the intermediate department received from Mr. Irving a copy of the Old and New Testament.

As a senior deacon of the church Mr. Irving was faithful in his duties, regular in his attendance at the services, and took such parts as were assigned to him. He represented the Springfield association of Congregational churches at the National council in Kansas City in 1913 and had represented the church in other denominational gatherings.

Mr. Irving's outstanding characteristics. There was more than a suggestion of diffidence in his manner, but there was a quiet cordiality in his greetings which endeared people to him. Aside from the social group of old friends. It was perhaps in the church that he was best known and best loved.

During the 20 odd years that he made his home in Decatur, few men if any accomplished more than did E. P. Irving. No man of his activity was so little in the limelight. He had no liking for personal publicity. Never did he shirk what others thought to be his duty to the community. If good resulted, it was content that it was so. Thoughts of public acclaim, due to him personally for the results were foreign to his nature. Because of that trait in his part, because of that trait in his nature, only those most intimately associated with him knew the value of his service, knew the extent to which he gave freely of his time and energy to public needs.

Nor in private did he take to himself the credit which was his due. The organization of which he was only one, had determined the policy and brought about the results. That was sufficient for all. His kindly advice, sound judgement will be missed by those with whom he had been accustomed to associate in community work.

To Illinois. When a Boy Edward P. Irving was born in Wolcott, N. Y., Nov. 28, 1863, the son of Rev. Peter and Martha Irving. His father was a minister in the Baptist church. When he was a small lad the family came to Illinois, a strange coincidence being that their

LONG PROMINENT IN DECATUR LIFE

Late E. P. Irving Former Resident of This City Ranked as One of the Most Useful Citizens of Macon County.

Brief mention has already been made of the death of E. P. Irving in Decatur, at one time resident here and a relative of Frank T. Irving and Mrs. Hannah Burrows. Mr. Irving while not often in the public eye, was one of the most prominent citizens of Decatur, active in religious and civic affairs as well as in business.

The Decatur Herald in an extended notice telling about Mr. Irving's active and useful life, printed the following paragraphs. It will be noted that reference is made to the earlier years of Mr. Irving's life spent in Jacksonville.

Active Hospital Booster. The Decatur and Macon County hospital was another outstanding enterprise which had Mr. Irving's personal interest. He was elected secretary of the board, and served in that capacity to the end. A committee consisting of Mr. Irving, L. A. Mills and C. R. Murphy has charge of the campaign to raise the last $10,000 needed to open the building. Mr. Irving was a regular attendant at board meetings and had much to do with the purchase of the fittings and fixtures for the institution.

In politics Mr. Irving was a consistent Republican. It was not generally known that he was besought by a larger group to be a candidate, for mayor in 1909 on the Municipal Voters ticket. He pleaded business cares as a reason for declining, and as it was against the wishes of his family that he should be a candidate his backers were forced to accept no for an answer.

Superintendent for 23 Years. Although not particularly active in lodge work, Mr. Irving was a Mason. He was one of the early members of the Rotary club and served for several years on its board of directors. He frequently was called upon for talks, and his last was delivered on February 12, Good Citizenship day.

It was one of the rules of his life to let nothing interfere with his duties as a churchman. His family traditions were Baptist, but on coming to Decatur he united with the Congregational church, recently organized, a little too late to be enrolled as a charter member.

For 23 years he served as superintendent of the Sunday school. Although he had many times expressed a wish to relinquish this position, the church at every annual meeting re-elected him as a matter of course. Seldom was he later than 9 o'clock in arriving at his desk, and was always thoroughly posted upon the lesson, as his questions addressed to the school revealed.

He represented the Springfield association of Congregational churches at the National council in Kansas City in 1913 and had represented the church in other denominational gatherings.

Mr. Irving's outstanding characteristics. There was more than a suggestion of diffidence in his manner, but there was a quiet cordiality in his greetings which endeared people to him. Aside from the social group of old friends. It was perhaps in the church that he was best known and best loved.

During the 20 odd years that he made his home in Decatur, few men if any accomplished more than did E. P. Irving. No man of his activity was so little in the limelight. He had no liking for personal publicity. Never did he shirk what others thought to be his duty to the community. If good resulted, it was content that it was so. Thoughts of public acclaim, due to him personally for the results were foreign to his nature. Because of that trait in his part, because of that trait in his nature, only those most intimately associated with him knew the value of his service, knew the extent to which he gave freely of his time and energy to public needs.

Nor in private did he take to himself the credit which was his due. The organization of which he was only one, had determined the policy and brought about the results. That was sufficient for all. His kindly advice, sound judgement will be missed by those with whom he had been accustomed to associate in community work.

To Illinois. When a Boy Edward P. Irving was born in Wolcott, N. Y., Nov. 28, 1863, the son of Rev. Peter and Martha Irving. His father was a minister in the Baptist church. When he was a small lad the family came to Illinois, a strange coincidence being that their first home was in Irving, Montgomery county. When he was 16 years of age, both his parents were dead and he went to Jacksonville to make his home with his uncle, Henry Irving, a carpenter and cabinet maker. When not in school he worked with his uncle and acquired a practical knowledge of the trade.

When he had finished his course in the public schools of Jacksonville, he entered Illinois college whence he was graduated in 1884. He was in years the youngest member of that class and ranked second in scholarship. Following his graduation he taught in the rural schools of Illinois and Kansas and then became an instructor in business colleges, first in Peoria and then Jacksonville, where he became principal of the Brown's business college.

Headed Business College. C. W. Brown then was establishing a chain of business colleges which became widely known in acquiring one such college in Decatur in 1889. Mr. Irving coming to Decatur in the fall of that year to take the position of principal. He continued in that position until 1894 when the business was consolidated with that of Decatur university under the management of H. M. Owen. Mr. Irving retiring to enter the offices of the Farries Manufacturing Co., with which he was continuously identified after that year, succeeding to the presidency upon the death of its founder, Robert Farries.

It was a small business when E. P. Irving took up the management of the office end of Farries Manufacturing company. Robert Farries was the head of the mechanical department. He had the inventive genius and the skill necessary to so organize the production end that the output could be profitably handled, and E. P. Irving had the genius for organizing the sales forces necessary in disposing of the output. Constantly he enlarged the field of the selling forces. The business which he first knew as one employing a dozen men, grew until there were several hundred always busy. The small plant had grown until it covered a city block and its output was known in international trade.

Organized New Company. In 1901, Robert Farries with E. P. Irving and others organized Decatur Refrigerator Manufacturing company for the manufacture of butcher blocks, refrigerators and conducting a general planing mill business. Two years later the corporate name was changed to Walrus Manufacturing company, and the manufacture of soda fountain fixtures became a feature of the trade which since has expanded and includes office fixtures and general high class interior finish. Since the death of Robert Farries, E. P. Irving has been the head of that corporation, and to that as well as to Farries Manufacturing company he gave his personal attention. He was for a number of years a director of Citizens' National bank and was one of the stockholders and intimately associated with the management of that organization.

In spite of the burdens of his private interests he was ever interested in the welfare organizations of the community and at some time in their history had been associated with their management. As president of Decatur Water Supply company, he did much detail work signing thousands of checks and certificates of stock and accumulating and expending more than two million dollars necessary for the work which the community accomplished through that organization.

E. P. Irving was married June 19, 1894 to Florence Bernice Farries, daughter of Robert and Lena Farries. He leaves Mrs. Irving and three daughters, Florence Edwina, Eleanor Jane and Mary Frances; a son Robert died Dec. 5, 1901, at the age of five years. In addition to the members of his own family, he leaves one brother, George Irving of Hiawatha, Kansas.

CONSIGNMENT OF FISH FOR WHITE HALL

White Hall, Aug. 30.—A consignment of government fish for the city reservoir was received Wednesday. It consisted of two cans of black bass fingerlings, and were taken in charge by F. I. Trunnels and Clyde E. King. Six cans were received at Greenfield for the new fishing preserve. An inspection of the White Hall consignment by Ed Bonear, custodian of the reservoir, reveals some trout, according to Ed, who says that trout can thrive in these waters. The extent of the shipment is quite satisfactory.

The city council is negotiating the water situation in a way to provide an overabundant supply, and it is possible that the present reservoir might not be included in the plan to be adopted. Whatver the city does along this line in the future will positively be on ground to be owned by the city. The grounds on which the present reservoir is located belong an Elliott Ross, and the deal is satisfactory to all citizens so long as Mr. Ross lives, but most citizens are of the opinion that Mr. Ross will not live as long as the city lives, and that some day the land might get into hands that would embarrass the city and its water supply. Then there is the added opportunity of providing an amusement resort at a place such as a large body of water conveniently located affords, and the new order of things makes it plain that a pleasure resort provides swimming in summer and skating in winter, together with other facilities for recreation, is a most inviting field of investment in the automobile age.

What Happens If You Die Leaving No Will

If you die intestate, your property will be divided according to the laws of this State and an administrator will be appointed to handle its affairs.

There are many disadvantages to this course, for example: The laws of the State are made to apply generally to all cases—not to any one in particular. They may distribute your property to parties you would not care to reward and may impose hardships on those you cherish most.

The safe course is to make a will under the guidance of a competent attorney, naming this trust company as executor and trustee.

CROWDS THROG RACES AT FAIR GROUND THURSDAY

Thursday's big race program at the Morgan County Fair held the crowds, the largest in attendance at the fair this year, packed in the grand stand and lined against the fences on both sides of the track throughout the afternoon. The four main events scheduled for the afternoon went off smoothly, but furnished no end of excitement and thrills for the race fans. Two pony races, extra events, were staged between heats.

The 2:14 pace went to Johnny Todd, owned and driven by R. J. Valentine of Kane, Ill., in three straight heats. This was the most consistent event of the three days of racing, each of the four entries retaining their positions at each heat. Boston Spider, W. C. Grixle's Jerseyville entry, displayed speed enough in each heat to push Johnny Todd to the limit. The time on the last heat was 2:16 1-4.

The 2:25 trot went to five heats, with John Onlon's entry from Summum, Ill., winning three of them. This event was the most erratic of the afternoon. Benny Dillon, driven by Clark Green, won the first heat handily and then dropped to second, third and fourth consecutively in the following heats. In the last heat he came back after a bad break and came within inches of winning. The spectacular spurts made by several of the horses in their attempts to stage Garrison finishes brought the crowds yelling to their feet and both horses and drivers were enthusiastically cheered and applauded.

Pulled Old Time Sulky
In the green pace the big feature was the humorous aspect of Constine, a lively little mare, pulling an old fashioned high wheeled sulky. Constine nosed out Brownie Hal for third place after a terrific struggle in which Brownie Hal tried to run away with his driver, John Taylor.

The afternoon's program was climaxed with an exciting running race with four entries. After a number of futile attempts to get away the start was finally made and developed into a beautiful race. Lord Harry with Fleisher up came up from third place and nosed out Green T at the wire. Lord Harry did the half mile dash in 54 flat.

The pony races were the most amusing feature of the afternoon. The entries were sized up by the judges, who originally intended only one event, and put into two classes, a large and a small, in order to give the boys a square deal all around. The first race, a quarter mile dash, had five entries and went to Robert Reed. The little Sheldn ponies did the quarter in remarkably fast time and were ridden to the limit by their young jockeys, several of them bareback. The last pony race had three entries and was won by Frank Hembrough with out much opposition. Albert Daniels, riding a bald faced little prancer that had all the feelings of a Dan Patch, looked like a probable winner until he rounded the turn wide and shot into the midst of the crowd that had overflowed the fence onto the track. There was some lively sidestepping and jumping for a few seconds until the bald faced entry got squared away and shot down the course. The youngsters were good sports in their winning and losing and gave the crowds an exhibition of real riding.

playes are day men, whose wage rate ranges up from 51 cents per hour, while the balance work on contract, getting a rate per ton for all the coal they produce. The union will suggest that the governor's ten percent offer be applied to the contract rates per ton for mining coal and that the day men given the amount of increase in cents per day that the average contract miner would be enabled to earn by a ten percent increase in the rates.

Contract miners at present earn from $7 per day upward. The union proposal would consequently be for an advance of 70 cents or more per day for all day men. The governor's flat ten percent proposal would give the day men earning now $4.20 per day but 42 cents additional.

The Check-off
Further, the union answer recognizes the demand for the check-off system of dues collection by which the employers are required to hold out of each employee's pay check an amount sufficient to cover union dues and turn this over to local unions. It will be said in the miners' response that such a system, now enforced in unionized bituminous mining territories constitutes real "recognition of the union" which the governor's proposition offered insures collective bargaining and that nothing else will adequately cover the ground.

There will be minor questions raised in the union response as to the methods suggested by the governor for applying the principles of his proposition thru the joint scale committees of the union and operators with the anthracite conciliation board as an arbiter. But on the whole the union officials will declare themselves willing to negotiate if Governor Pinchot's final conference finds the operators in any compromising frame of mind.

All Comment Refused
Fully conversant with the difficult prospects Governor Pinchot planned today to take the representatives of both sides with him into executive session rather than into the open meetings at which he had hitherto framed his direct proposals in the intervention. He refused all comment today upon the situation but it was understood that he had a feeling that any position taken by either side if not put into public view could be modified. There was also a suggestion that as a final resort in the situation he might ask for a 30-day truce and the calling off of the union's suspension while negotiations continued.

RECREATION FACTOR IN COMMUNITY LIFE

Former Governor Lowden Gives Views on Work that Should be Done to Make Living Brighter.

Springfield, Ill.—Recreation is a potent agency for knitting together community life, a necessity to the success of America, according to Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, who has been invited to address the national conference of the Playground and Recreation association of America to be held here October 8 to 12.

When invited to speak at the conference, Former Governor Lowden said he probably would be unable to do so, but instead submitted some views on work of the association.

"In any well ordered life due regard must be given to both work and play," said Mr. Lowden.

"It is true that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. But it is equally true, I think, that all play and no work makes him equally dull. How to balance the two, therefore, becomes a question of prime importance. Recreation by its very nature requires closer co-operation among members of a community than does work. We can work alone better than we can play alone. And so recreation becomes a powerful instrumentality for a closer and therefore a better community life. "In these days, in a most potent means for knitting together the community in an organic whole. We are coming to recognize also more and more that a larger co-operation in our work is best for all. The co-operation which recreation tends to force may well help to bring about a larger co-operation in that part of our life which is devoted to work."

Dolph Bosler of the Clark's Chapel neighborhood had a force of men from the state hospital helping him thresh Thursday. Between 1,900 and 2,000 bushels of wheat were threshed during the day, the yield averaging about 35 bushels to the acre.

FRATERNAL CONGRESS PLANS WIDER SCOPE

FRENCH LICK, Ind.—(By the A. P.)—Greater expansion of the fraternal congress' activities and legal problems concerning the regulation of fraternal societies, insurance readjustments, rates, field word and additions to the privileges of insured members, will be discussed at the 25th annual convention of the National Fraternal congress, to be held here August 27-30.

Delegates representing virtually every fraternal society in the United States, with an aggregate membership of more than 8,000,000 and insurance benefits of $50,000,000, will attend according to W. R. Shirley of Muskogee, Okla., national vice president.

James J. Davis, secretary of labor, will be the principal speaker according to the program, his address being "Fraternalism, Immigration, Naturalization and Labor." Other prominent speakers announced are Gov. Warren T. McCrae of Indiana, Harry Arthur Hoff of New York, U. S. Senators Ralston and Watson of Indiana, and Barney Pearson of St. Louis.

"Our expansion program will include co-operation with the community, state and nation for the promotion of better citizenship, extension of philanthropic work to care for the aged, sick, indigent and orphaned, more attention to the social features of local lodge work and encouragement of a greater spirit of co-operation and fraternity among the organizations comprising the congress," Mr. Shirley said.

The congress was organized 25 years ago and is the central representative body of nearly all the fraternal insurance societies in the country, it is said.

Assets of the societies are invested in bonds, the money from which is used to erect school houses, build roads and streets and other public improvements and also in farm mortgages for the development of agricultural districts.

GRIS, BALLOONIST MADE FINE FLIGHT

Yesterday's Exhibit at the Fair One of the Best Ever Seen in Morgan County.

Daredevil Gris, famous balloonist, made an ascension Thursday afternoon at the Fair that was one of the best flights and parachute drops ever seen in Morgan county.

The huge seventy foot bag was filled and tugging at its ropes just as the last heat of the green pace was run off. The crowd had nothing to distract its attention. The numerous helpers assisting with the balloon obeyed the orders to "hold her" and in a few minutes Gris yelled, "Everybody let go." They did and away shot the huge sack bearing its human freight that waved merrily to the crowd below and squirmed about on the trapeze.

The afternoon was perfectly calm and clear. The balloon rose with astounding rapidity and within a few seconds was at the usual altitude at which Gris is in the habit of cutting loose for his parachute trip back to earth. Yesterday, however, he rode his craft to the limit and soared higher and higher almost straight above the crowd. The bag diminished until it resembled an orange and Gris became no more than an animated speck. Then he cut loose and shot earthward but was nearly four thousand feet up when his parachute opened.

Everyone watched the gliding parachute for a few minutes and forgot the balloon but when they did turn their attention to it again it was with astonishment for the balloon instead of turning turtle as was its custom, and then emptying and descending, had become an even smaller speck against the blue of the summer sky and seemed to have no intention of coming down. Those who had been near the craft when it went up recalled that Gris had had yelled "Look out below" just as he shot up into the air. A falling weight had accompanied the warning and this was the weight which caused the balloon to turn over and release the hot air.

The balloon remained high up in the air for nearly thirty minutes and then slowly fell and came down as the air cooled. Gris came down safely hardly a half mile from his starting point. A number of the Fair goers succeeded in seeing him make his landing.

DOKAYS RETURN FROM PORTLAND EXCURSION

Hiderim Team and Delegation Enjoyed Every Minute of Trip
—Some Remain in West for a Longer Vacation—Team Ranked Sixth in Contest.

More than half the members of the Hiderim drill team and local Dokay delegation who made the trip to Portland to attend the Imperial palace, have returned to the city. They express themselves as highly satisfied with the three weeks' trip, during which they took in, not only Portland, but also San Francisco, Los Angeles and Colorado Springs.

The work of the drill team in contest with forty crack teams from all over the United States was highly satisfactory. The team from Hiderim Temple ranked sixth, and the percentage between it and the winners was small. All teams in the contest put up a creditable exhibition.

Wilbur Haue, Kenneth Barton, Frank Jones, Forest G. Covey and Frank Kennedy, arrived home last night on the Hummer, having lingered a day behind the main party at Colorado Springs for a side trip. Those arriving previously were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cannon, Frank Eades, Walter Ahlquist, Arthur Conlee, Alfred Smith, James Guyette, Jewel E. Scott and Charles Rinehart. Dr. C. B. Magill left the delegation at Kansas City and went to St. Louis, there to start for Chambersburg, Pa., where he will visit relatives. Others of the delegation will come home at intervals, according to the length of the side trip they are taking.

Charles Godfrey, E. C. Strandberg and Harry McEvers remained in Los Angeles, and expect to return to the city about the middle of September.

HOMESTEADERS TAKE UP MANY ACRES

WASHINGTON. (By the Associated Press)—Public lands totaling 23,022,630 acres have been transferred to homesteaders during the past two years. A Department of Interior summary shows that the number of patents issued for this area was 110,330.

Were all of these tracts gathered into one district, it would have an area as great as Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maryland and Connecticut combined.

Receipts of the General Land Office during the two years amounted to $24,843,809. More than half, $12,981,609, came from royalties on mineral leases on public lands. Sale of public lands realized $2,453,250, while fees and commissions totaled $2,840,738. Receipts from naval petroleum reserves brought in $5,543,835.

CONSIDERABLE INCREASE IN BIRTHS AND DEATHS

Springfield. — A considerable increase in both births and deaths for Illinois will be shown when the vital statistics for 1922 are published, according to Sheldon S. Howard, registrar in the department of public health.

Most of these increases, however, are due to better methods of registration in the various towns and counties, he said, and do not necessarily indicate that citizens are any more prolific than they used to be.

But it is apparent from the figures, he declares, that the increase in death by motor accident will be alarming. Unofficial figures collected from various sources, however, probably are larger than the actual number of accidental deaths that the final accounting will show, he said.

MODERN TRAMWAYS MENACE ANCIENT ARCHES OF PEKING

Peking.—(By the A. P.)—The "pailous," ornamental archlike affairs of wooden beams in blues, greens and reds and which lend an added quaintness to Peking's streets, are threatened with destruction through construction of street railways in the capital.

The "pailous" span the principal streets at intervals. Their bases restrict the roadway and would interfere with the proposed surface lines. The municipal authorities are putting up a fight for their preservation or rebuilding where it is absolutely essential that they be pulled down, but the tramway company opposes the idea on the ground of expense.

President Harding on Alaska

By Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture

On Friday, July 27, at four o'clock in the afternoon, President Harding made his last formal appearance before a group of his fellow-citizens. It was an occasion of unusual significance. It was the President's first public appearance in the States after his return from Alaska. It was a report to the nation on Alaska and his conclusions concerning it, made in Seattle, the gateway to Alaska and the base of operations of much of the large business done in Alaska.

The next morning while waiting to disembark, after having reviewed the magnificent Pacific fleet of battleships and destroyers I remarked to him, "I hope you are feeling fit today; evidently you have a hard afternoon before you." His reply was not reassuring. He was deeply appreciative of the wonderful reception he received here, however, and did not spare himself to show this appreciation. It was evident to those of us who had been with him during the preceding month that in the delivery of this great speech he was laboring under difficulties, but, notwithstanding this, it was delivered with an earnestness and a vigor worthy of the occasion and of the subject matter. This speech on Alaska will go down in history as one of the greatest of President Harding's public utterances. While dealing especially with Alaskan matters there will be found in it certain fundamental principles which apply everywhere and which, had he lived, President Harding undoubtedly would have applied in our government dealings with natural resources throughout the nation.

The President made the trip to Alaska to see with his own eyes the conditions there. From almost the day he took his great office the so-called Alaskan problem had been dinned into his ears. Efforts had been made to commit him to this policy and that, but with that innate caution characteristic of him he had quietly waited, evidently deciding that it would be wise for him to get first-hand knowledge before yielding to the importunities of those who were urging revolutionary changes in the conduct of Alaskan affairs.

For the last fifteen years Alaska has been a stormy petrel at Washington. Public attention was focused upon it as the battleground of the last great fight for the conservation of our natural resources, and particularly of the forests and coal resources. In that particular fight the conservation forces won, but those interests which were not pleased with the conservation policies adopted were not disposed to regard the matter settled and had been carrying on a systematic campaign to break them down. The Alaskan policies seemed naturally to be the most vulnerable point of attack. Alaska was far away. Statements very difficult to check carefully could be made concerning conditions in Alaska.

With the inauguration of President Harding the so-called troubles of Alaska were aired with increasing frequency. Legislative measures seeking to bring about changes in Alaska's government were introduced. The need of doing something for Alaska was urged upon the President from many different directions. The stories of bureaucratic red tape were revived, redecorated and circulated with renewed vigor. The census reports of 1920 which seemed to indicate a loss of 15 per cent in the population of the territory were brought forward as confirming the reports that the very life blood of the territory was being sucked out by Federal vampires.

Before starting on this long western trip the President took the precaution to have an analysis made of Alaska's population, trade and commerce, and to quietly gather other information which would be helpful to him in getting at the truth. This basic statistical information, together with personal contact with Alaskans at most of the principal settlements in the territory, and personal observation of Alaskan conditions during the three weeks' travel, qualified him to speak with authority and made his Seattle speech the thoughtful and deliberate utterance of a statesman seeking to act justly and wisely, both for Alaska and the nation of which she is a very important part.

The speech began with a beautiful word picture of the scenic wonders of Alaska and a tribute to her fine citizenship, in which "the assurance of Alaska's ultimate and adequate development" and in this introduction his audience got a hint of what was to come later on when he said: "The process of development and establishment of a permanent and ample civilization lie in the citizenship with homes in Alaska not in investors who are seeking Alaskan wealth to enrich homes elsewhere."

In answer to those who pointed to a supposed loss of 15 per cent in population from 1910 to 1920 as indicating a process of strangulation the President said: "Judgments adverse to Alaska will not be based on such adventitious conditions, save by the unintelligent or by those who would deliberately cry down the country's availability as a land of homes in the hope of getting something for themselves in the future. Against a program of ruinous exploitations we must stand firmly."

The fact is that a study of the census returns in 1910 and 1920 had satisfied the President that that the policy of the Department of Agriculture was sound and helpful, but became an enthusiastic in its support, and gave it as his deliberate judgment that intelligent and sincere people cannot regard this policy as in any way hampering the development of the timber industry. He referred to the pulp mill already in operation and the other contracts on the point of being closed and said, "We are, in short, on the eve of an expansion which, if not rapid, will be sound and permanent. Frankly, I do not look for rapid development in Alaska. It could only be had at the cost of sacrificing a few immediately available resources and then abandoning the rest. That we do not desire and will not knowingly permit."

At once, and it is to be hoped for all time, President Harding quashed the indictment that the natural resources of Alaska are under lock and key. He found that the withholding of coal and oil deposits from exploitation is all water that has passed over the dam; that the present Federal laws for developing these resources now give every reasonable opportunity to capital and business foresight to develop them as rapidly as the markets of the territory and of the world can use them. In the long and imposing array of Alaskan resources the President found not one which is not freely available to men of energy and capital for commercial use and development. "Coal," said the President, "is being mined satisfactorily and profitably under the terms of the complained-against coal land leasing system."

Speaking of Alaskan agriculture, he said that our policy must depend largely on the attitude adopted toward her other resources; that if we are to turn Alaska over to the exploiters, go on depleting the fisheries, turn over the forests for like exploitation and destruction, "if, in short, we are to loot Alaska as the possibility of profit arises, now in one direction, now in another, then we shall never have a state or states in Alaska; and if that was to be the policy we need not concern ourselves about agriculture. But if, on the other hand, our purpose is to make a great, powerful, wealthy and permanent community of Alaska, then we should give special attention to encouraging a type of agriculture suited to climate and circumstances."

He spoke of the need of a liberal policy toward the building of roads and trails as development might make necessary and to provide feeders for the railroad into which the Government has put more than 56 million dollars and which is operating at a loss of about a million dollars a year.

However much he may have been impressed before coming to Alaska with the need of a general reorganization of the Federal activities there, President Harding came away very definitely of the opinion that such suggestions were not well considered. On this point he said with emphasis, "Where there is possibility of betterment in the Federal machinery of administration, improvement should and will be effected, but there is no need for a sweeping reorganization. The Federal government's processes have not paralyzed, but rather have promoted the right sort of Alaskan development. The territory needs their continuance."

The conclusions reached by President Harding are the conclusions reached by every man who studies Alaska with an open mind. They are the conclusions reached by Alaskans themselves. W. F. Thompson, the veteran editor at Fairbanks, expresses the same general thought, but in more direct language, when he says, "There never was a mining law, or an agricultural law, or a timber law in interior Alaska which ever worked a hardship upon a miner or a farmer or a wood-cutter, or one of which any of them complained. All that talk about Alaska being hard-capped by bureau control is the rottenest kind of rot. Where such control is working hardest is where it is needed the most. Alaskans who are Alaskans pray, 'Bless God for bureau control.' The 'sick Alaska' propaganda emanates from those who expect to profit from it. It gives Alaskans a slight nausea to hear the quack doctors of the states declaring us sick and prescribing in the newspapers for our non-existent ills."

As President Harding said, Alaska is destined to become one of the bright stars in the union of States. The rapidity of her development, slowly but surely, in those directions which make for a sound, intelligent and enduring population.

EXPENSE IN AIDING POOR HAS DROPPED

Rock Island.—The expense of aiding the poor of Rock Island county dropped 50 per cent in the last two years, according to the county treasurer Chester Thompson. Approximately $35,000 has been expended this year but $70,000 was required in 1921. Better business conditions throughout the country have caused the decrease it was said.

CHICAGO CONTESTANTS IN GOLF ELIMINATED

Necessitates Four States' Stars Contesting in Semi-Final Round Friday—Mrs. Letts Loses.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(By The Associated Press.)—Utah, Ohio, Missouri and Texas golf stars will contest the semi-final round of the Women's Western Golf Championship at Exmoor tomorrow as result of today's matches in which all Chicago contestants were eliminated, including Mrs. F. C. Letts, thrice title holder. She fell before Florence Halloran of Salt Lake City who shot better than par by two strokes in the 17 holes she required to win, two and one. Mrs. Letts herself was one under par for the 6,473 yard course but the Utah star was not to be denied and while she lost the first hole to a birdie five she squared the contest on the second and winning four holes straight was three up. She dropped the short seventh and ninth but still turned 1 up. She snatched the next two holes but lost the 14th and the 16th to birdie 4s but took the 405 yard 15th with a birdie 4 and halved the 480 yard 17th in par six, ending a brilliant match.

Miss Halloran will play the Ohio champion, Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown in the semi-finals the latter having shot 85, three under par to overcome Dorothy Hieble of Exmoor in 19 holes. Equally good golf was played by Elaine Rosenthal Reinhardt of Dallas Texas, twice holder of the title who had to shoot 41-44-85 to down Mrs. Harley Hieble of Detroit by the narrow margin of 1 up.

Mrs. Reinhardt will play Miriam Byrns of Kansas City, Missouri champion, who had the easiest match of the day defeating Elsie Hilding of Grand Rapids 4 and 3.

VETERAN M'AUILLIFFE NEARLY KNOCKED OUT

Dempsey Gives Big Bruiser Terrific Hammering in First Round of Training Nearly Finishing Him.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 30.—(By The Associated Press.)—Jack McAuliffe, the Detroit heavyweight weighing 206 pounds and towering 6 feet, 2 inches was all but knocked out in less than three minutes in his initial training session with Jack Dempsey today. After the disastrous first round, McAuliffe was unable to continue for the second. He crawled out of the ring with his right eye closed and bleeding from a ripped left ear. In the three minutes he faced the heavyweight champion, the half blinded McAuliffe did not land a solid smash while Dempsey, with McAuliffe groggy and leg weary, had his punches in restraint towards the finish of the round to avert what appeared to be a certain knockout.

McAuliffe walked to his corner with shaky legs and gamely offered to continue for the second, but Dempsey urged him to quit. While in the rubbing room after the workout having hot towels applied to his eye, McAuliffe, who was knocked out in three rounds by Luis Angel Firpo declared if the giant Argentine was able to go two rounds with Dempsey in their heavyweight championship contest September 14, he would be the most surprised man in the world.

"Does Dempsey hit as hard as Firpo?" he was asked.
"As hard?" McAuliffe exclaimed. "Why there's no comparison. Dempsey is a 100 per cent better hitter with either hand. He's the snappiest puncher and can sleep around with such speed that Firpo won't know what it's all about. First he has a right hand with a wallop. Dempsey in my opinion, will tear him to pieces with left hooks."

SCOTT KNOCKED OUT OF BOX BY DODGERS

BROOKLYN, Aug. 30.—New York defeated Brooklyn in the first of the three game series today, five to four, despite the fact that the Dodgers knocked Scott out of the box in the second inning. Young scored the winning run in the second when he singled stole second, went to third on Taylor's wild throw and kept on to the plate on Neils fumble.

TWO TENNIS CHAMPS NOW PLAY AUSTRALIA

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The two aces of American tennis—William M. Johnston, world's champion, and William T. Tilden national title-holder will hold Uncle Sam's front line of defense tomorrow afternoon against Australia in the first matches of the Davis cup challenge round series at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills.

Johnston will face James O. Anderson, the Australian champion, and Tilden will oppose John B. Hawkes in the initial singles encounters. The American stars supreme in international play for the past four years, are favorites to win but tennis experts regard the Antipodeans as formidable challengers because of the impressive form they have shown so far in this country. The Johnston-Anderson match will be played first followed immediately by the Tilden-Hawkes contest.

ALL IS READY FOR STAGG FIELD EVENT

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 30.—Leading performers from all sections of the country wound up training today for the National A. A. U. championships at Stagg Field University of Chicago tomorrow, Saturday and Monday. Picked men to the number of approximately 200 are entered in the outdoor classic which is expected to produce the most brilliant track and field competition of the season.

New records in several events are in prospect. Winners from sectional and collegiate meets in the four quarters of the land will compete for the national honors.

Twenty events in the junior division will be contested by the country's aspirants tomorrow.

Other events will be run on Saturday.

The present German army called the "reichswehr" numbers not more than 100,000 men who are recruited by voluntary enlistment. The army consists of seven divisions of infantry, three of cavalry and few units of artillery and auxiliary troops. Soldiers must serve 12 years and enlistment is not permitted. According to the regulations, any private who has been in the service seven years and has passed the necessary examinations, is free to be a graduate from a high school, this period is reduced by two years.

TIRED OF BEING RAZED

Johnny Wilson probably got sick of so many bouquets. After nearly two years' inactivity he's returning to the ring to meet Harry Greb for the middleweight championship. The scrap will be at the Polo Grounds in New York, August 31. Here's Johnny as he appears in training.

While Johnson had not yet applied for a license, the ban on the heavyweight was issued by Mr. Bugbee because of Johnson's conviction for violation of the Mann act in the federal courts several years ago.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—The Indians defeated the White Sox in thirteen innings today three to two. Doubles by Sewell and Stephenson off Thurston decided the game. FIRPO GREATEST EATER IN GLADIATOR HISTORY

Trains Practically Opposite to All Accepted American Ideas and Thrives on It.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 30.—(By The A. P.)—Luis Angel Firpo at his meals is as interesting as the Firpo of the boxing ring. What he can do with his fists on a punch catcher is as nothing compared to the treatment he gives an inch and a half thick sirloin steak smothered with fried eggs.

The Argentine gladiator is one of the greatest eaters the boxing ring has known, declared Dr. Juan Reilly, an Irish-Spanish specialist who is making a study of Luis Angel for the University of Pennsylvania.

The man Jack Dempsey will meet for the world's heavyweight title, Sept. 14, insofar as eating is concerned is following an idea directly opposite to those of all the great American trainers and specialists.

He eats eggs and meats and fruit three times a day in great quantities and has comparatively few vegetables on his plate.

In a single day the food that Firpo takes contains, according to Dr. Reilly, about seven thousand calories more than those in the food of the huskiest of longshoremen.

"This man Firpo is no ordinary modern being," said Dr. Reilly. "He trains his mind as well as his physical self and seems to know just what will happen when he meets Dempsey. I am of the opinion that Dempsey will have a great man against him."

Firpo returned to his training today after an idle spell enforced by rain. He was on the road, punched the bags, skipped the rope, shadow boxed and sparred five rounds with four punch catchers. He worked two rounds with Joe McCann and went thru a fast round each with Frank Koebele, Jeff Clarke, the Joplin Ghost and Natalio Pera.

MARQUARD STAGES DUEL WITH RING

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—Marquard won a pitching duel from Ring today and Boston took the first game of the series from Philadelphia 2 to 1. The Braves bunched two hits with a sacrifice fly for a run in the first and added another in the sixth on a single, double and infield out. The locals scored their lone tally in the second on a double by Lee and Holke's single to center.

Score: Boston . . . 100 001 000-2 8 0
Philadelphia 010 000 000-1 9 1

CHAMP BOXING WILL RETURN TO LIMELIGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Championship boxing will return to the limelight tomorrow night at the Polo Grounds where Harry Greb, the Pittsburgh "windmill" will attempt to wrest the world's middleweight crown from Johnny Wilson, of Boston in a 15-round match. It will be the first of three title matches scheduled here within two weeks, a Johnny Under and Benny Leonard battle for the light weight championship next Wednesday and Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo clash for heavyweight laurels the following week. Both Greb and Wilson were pronounced in excellent condition today after going thru light workouts.

Motor traffic near Stevens Point, Wis., was brought to a standstill the other day by drifts of hailstones across the roadway.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Chief interest in today's stock market
the most active since July 2, cen-brought about a few bullish demonstrations in other issues it had a rather unsettling effect on general speculative sentiment. Selling pressure was brought to bear on the copper shares when the price of the metal fell to 13½¢ a pound, the lowest price this year. Other industrial leaders also lost ground, there being a disposition on the part of traders to take profits after three days of rising prices, particularly in view of the approaching holidays.

The rails were conspicuously firm during the morning with an active demand noted for the seasoned dividend payers but then eased with the rest of the list in the later trading. Delaware & Hudson closed at a net gain of more than three points, but the other hard coal carriers showed little change on the day.

United States Steel, Baldwin, and most of the other so-called pivotal stocks closed at fractional recessions. Automobile dulness in the automobile industry is generally held responsible for the heavier offerings of the automobile issues. Chandler dropped 2½ points and losses of ½ to nearly two points took place in Studebaker, Mack Truck, Maxwell Motors, and Stewart Warner Speedometer.

Establishment of another new low record for all time at 8½ cts a million by German marks was the feature of the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held fairly around $4.54½ but French francs sagged slightly to 5.64 cts.

Italian and Greek exchanges
registered moderate recessions indicating that threats of war between the two countries were not yet being taken seriously in financial circles. United States government bonds were inclined downward but net changes were relatively unimportant being limited to 2-32 of a point.

PressTRADING IN GRAIN
PITS EXTRA SLOW

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Trading in the grain pits here today was the lightest in volume in some time and the undertone during the latter part of the session was firm. There was some scattered liquidation of long September wheat with evening up of short contracts and also changes over from September into the deferred deliveries. Elevator interests were the principal buyers of September, while eastern houses aided in absorbing the offerings
the bulk of which came from local operators. Wheat closed at a net gain of ¼ to ½¢ with December 1.05½ to 1.05½ and May 1.10½; corn was 8 to 1¢ higher;
oats gained a shade to ½¢ and provisions advanced 10 to 12½¢.

Although quotations at Liverpool were higher general cable news placed the trade in an uncertain frame of mind and consequently operations were limited, the market exhibiting an irregular trend. Possibility of a strike by the grain elevator men here Saturday was given only passing attention.

Improved weather conditions were reported and Canadian forecasts were more favorable, now that harvesting is general in most sections of the Canadian west.

Strength in cash corn together with buying by a few commission houses started some short covering and improved the tone of the corn market but the trade was light.

Trade in oats was small and influenced by the action of the corn market.

Provision trade was light but firm being influenced by the higher hog market.

QUIET MARKS THE
BUTTER MARKET

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—There was an uncertain tone to the butter market here today. Trading was rather quiet. Chicago prices
